Response to Amendment

1. The response filed on 3/18/2005 with respect to claims 1-45 has been received and made of record.

2. Applicant's argument with respect claims 1-6 has been fully considered but is most in view of new grounds of rejection.

Allowable Subject Matter

- 3. Claims 9-45 are allowed.
- 4. Claims 7-8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
- 6. Claims 1-7 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ross et al., U.S. Patent No. 6,608,628.

As per claim 1, Ross discloses a method for providing electronic delivery of electronic model images, the method comprising:

Application/Control Number: 09/846,037

Art Unit: 2157

generating one or more electronic model images, a portion of the electronic model images being generated from scanned electronic data of a physical object (see fig. 2 and col. 5, lines 3-17);

storing the electronic model images within computer readable memory of a serverbased computing system (see fig. 2 and col. 6, lines 1-40);

delivering the electronic model images to a remote client computer over a distributed communications network (see fig.12 a and col. 10, lines 53-65);

manipulating the electronic model images upon the remote client computer; and performing analysis and a course of action using the manipulated electronic model images (see col. 13, lines 13, lines 11-44);

wherein the electronic model images comprise in part a polygonal mesh representation of the physical object (see fig.6a and col. 7, lines 26-43).

As per claim 2, Ross discloses the method according to claim 1, wherein the method further comprises: generating a new electronic model image using the manipulated electronic model image (see col. 13, lines 13, lines 11-44).

As per claim 3, Ross discloses the method according to claim 2, wherein the method further comprises: storing the electronic model images within computer readable memory of the remote client computer (see fig. 2 and col. 6, lines 1-40).

As per claim 4, Ross discloses the method according to claim 1, wherein the generating one or more electronic model images comprises: combining the polygonal mesh representation of the physical object with one or more electronic model image of a different type that is related to the physical object (see fig. 6a and col. 7, lines 26-43).

As per claim 5, Ross discloses the method according to claim 4, wherein the one or more electronic model image of a different type comprise one or more of the following types of digital images: scanned x-ray images, scanned photographic images, and computer generated images (see fig. 2 and col. 5, lines 3-17).

As per claim 6, Ross discloses the method according to claim 1, wherein the distributed computer network comprises the Internet (see fig. 12a).

Conclusion

- 7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
